in Petty Quarrels.

Washington. Nov. 18.—From small beginnings have arisen some of the most perplexing questions to be passed upon by the supreme court this fall and winter.

Thomas W. McComb had splendid luck duck hunting in Tinicum township. Delaware county, Pennsylvania a year or so ago. Probably to his surprise that day's outing will bring him to the supreme court. He was prosecuted for using an automatic gun in the hunt. In defense he attacked the constitutionality of the Pennsylvania law against the use of that type of weapon.

Mathias Schmidinfer, a Chicago baker, is said to have made his loaves of bread a trifle too small one day and was fined $100 for violating a city ordinance regulating the size of loaves. He will ask the supreme court to declare the ordinance a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

Mary F. Butts, a negress of Everett, Mass, thought she did not receive the treatment to which her ticket entitled her on a vacation trip by water from Boston to Baltimore and return in 1907. As an outcome she will ask the supreme court to declare the ordinance a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the Euriteet and the constitution of the United States.

As an outcome she will ask the supreme court to decide that the "oid civil rights act," of 1875, which was held unconstitutional in bitterity fought cases many years ago is constitutional nevertheless and in full force and effect upon the ocean and other places where the United States has jurisdiction. She wants damages.
